

Dave from Albury's Election Telecast Drinking Game.

This drinking game is easy. Tune in to the ABC on election night and drink when any of the following are said:

- Bell weather
- Small booths
- Redistribution
- Pendulum
- Eden Monaro
- Early returns
- Quietly confident
- The Australian people
- Notionally
- Large booths
- The door's still open
- Too close to call
- Bennelong
- We'll know more shortly
- Vindication
- Scrutineers

If you really want to get smashed include the following:

- Swing
- Preferences

The advanced section for seasoned gamers is as follows:

- Two drinks whenever Antony Green has bought up the wrong slide.
- Two drinks for a cross to the tally room.
- Two drinks whenever Kerry chuckles after interviewing a losing candidate.

- Three drinks whenever Antony says that the computer is wrong.
- Three drinks whenever a 'celebrity' candidate loses.
- Three drinks whenever a Politician refuses to concede a seat that their side has obviously lost.

- Four drinks if the Chaser crash the broadcast, the Liberal's after party or Labor's.
- Five drinks if the Chaser physically touch a leader (not counting Bob Brown or Steve Fielding, no-one gives a fuck about them anyway)

- A bottle of Moet when Howard concedes.
- Scotch and razor blades if the Rodent gets back in.