

PRO PATRIA!* ARMY LISTS

The Pro Patria! army lists provide the class rating, number of figures you may choose for the various units within the players armies and are based on historical precedence. The percentages given are representative proportions of that troop type within the various nationalities. The percentages are worked out roughly on a basis of the number squadrons of cavalry (with generally three figures to a squadron) to the number battalions of infantry. Player should use these percentages as a broad guideline when constructing their orders of battle.

The book 'Napoleonic Armies – A Wargamers Campaign Directory 1805-1815' by Ray Johnson has been used as the main source of material for the organisations of the various armies and as such the lists cover the same period. Historical orders of battle are recommended for determining units and the Osprey Campaigns books are recommended as a useful resource. The ratings have been based on a variety of historical texts and other rules systems. Rating units can be a very subjective task and no doubt some conflict will occur at some stage as players research their favourite armies in greater depth and have their own opinions of ratings, but as long as their opponents agree to the rating then there should be no issue. For tournament play I recommend the use of these lists.

Napoleonic armies were generally composed of Divisions that were comprised of brigades of regiments of infantry and cavalry. For war gaming purposes brigades are generally composed of 2-6 battalions of infantry or 2-6 regiments of cavalry. Each Brigade should comprise of all infantry or all cavalry unless a historical precedence exists eg Prussian Brigades. Artillery batteries are not attached to any particular brigade per se and will come under direct command of the Army Commander. The exception to this is the battalion guns that are attached to individual battalions. A standard tabletop army will normally comprise of both cavalry and infantry brigades so the Army Commander will in effect be a small Corp Commander.

The breakdown of class type with a 3/4 indicates that the player may choose one of these class ratings for the unit of that type. Eg A player may choose to have a 9 figure Class 4 Austrian Cuirassier unit or a 15 figure Class 3 Austrian Cuirassier unit.

Some armies fighting were comprised of a variety of nationalities fighting as Allies and in such cases the individual country lists should be used. Eg use the Confederation of the Rhine Lists for the Wurzburg Regiments when recreating the battles of 1812.
